MET INSTANT DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT. GIRL BARELY ESCAPES

Joseph Roley of Belle Vernon, aged 32 years, was instantly killed last midnight in an automobile accident at Hopwood, Fayette county, while he was speeding toward Uniontown.

The fatal driver of the machine was accompanied by Miss Bertha Jones, a manicurist, of Uniontown who was so seriously injured that she was rushed to the Uniontown hospital as soon after the accident as possible.

The full particulars of the accident could not be learned as Roley never spoke after the car landed over a steep embankment, and the girl was in such a fever of excitement as to be unable to tell the cause of the accident. It is supposed that Roley was driving at a pretty lively clip and that in some manner he lost control of the car and it precipitated over an embankment. When the car turned turtle he was pinioned under it. The cries of the girl attracted Frank McKay who happened to be near at the time and he rushed to the scene of the accident. He was unable to extricate Roley from under the machine and had to summon help. The girl was instantly removed to the hospital and the body of the dead man sent to a Uniontown morgue where it was prepared for burial. The remains were brought to Belle Vernon this afternoon to the home of the young man's mother, Mrs. Hannah J. Roley, from where the funeral will take place

Joseph Roley was a member of the automobile firm of Vance & Roley of Belle Vernon He was well known to a host of people throughout this section of the country. He was a son of the late J. P Roley, for years a justice of the Peace of Belle Vernon

Benefit Concert Tonight

Something extra in the way of a concert is promised for this evening at the Presbyterian church, Mrs Letha Rankin, soprano soloist of the Point Breeze Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh, and Mr. Samuel Beddoe, tenor soloist, assisted by the well trained Presbyterian choir, will render a program of classical selections under the direction of Professor Fred Jenkins.

Mrs. Rankin and Mr. Beddoe are two of the best known and most popular artists in Pitsburgh; their work entitling them to rank with any of the performers heard in Monessen last summer on the Chautauqua platform, and the community is fortunate in having this opportunity to hear them.

The performance is in the nature of a farewell benefit to Professor Fred Jenkins, who for nearly two years past has directed the Presbyterian choir, and [illegible] two hundred tickets have already been sold.

PHONE CALLS BY NUMBER IS PREFERABLE

The new issue of the Bell directory is being distributed to subscribers in Monessen The directory contains forty eight exchanges, with the names of all subscribers connected therewith.

This issue of the directory consists of 21,500 copies of which nearly 1050 will be distributed in Monessen.

Mr. Burwell, local manager for the company, calls attention to the advisability of consulting the new issue before making familiar calls as many subscribers have contracted for an improved class of service, resulting in changes of call number.

The telephone company further urges the necessity of calling by number. The limits of memory and any change in the operating makes it impossible to render good service if connections are asked for by name.

It will be appreciated that the directory contains only those subscribers listed under the exchanges shown. For connection to other points. ask the local chief operator

A new feature of the directory which will be found very useful, is the blank form on the second page of the cover, for the names and numbers of persons frequently called. If the subscribers will take a few minutes to write in the names and numbers of fifteen or twenty persons they call frequently, the time required in looking for numbers will be decreased to a minimum.

IGNORED BY FRIENDS, VICTIM OF BULLET GOES TO POOR HOUSE

Rather a sad case developed yesterday at Monongahela when Charles Kovak, who was shot in a well remembered brawl at VanVoorhis, New Years morning, was released from the Monongahela hospital where he has since been a patient

Kovak is partially paralyzed and it is thought he will never be able to work. He went back after being discharged from the hospital to his old boarding house at Van Voorhis, but on arriving there, was thown out bodily and with considerable force, it is said, by the boarding boss.

Kovak again found his way back to Monongahela, and told his story to Squire Ellwood. The fellow is without friends or money, so the Squire took pity on him and today had him sent to the county home.

It will be remembered that on New Years morning, a man was clubbed to death in a boarding house row at Van Voorhis by John Smuntzer, who also shot Charles Kovak Smuntzer was later captured by the state police at a little mining town above Brownsville and he is now awaiting trial for murder in the Washington county court. It is said that Smuntzer has killed four men in his time, some of them in the old country.

CONGRESSIONAL BLUNDERS

Congress is asked to pay the judgment of $292,000 assessed against the 200 union workmen in the Danbury hatters' boycott case, without which said the men will lose their homes and all else which they possess.

It is, we believe, an appeal without precedent. In the passage of the Sherman anti-trust law there was no intention to include labor organizations as trusts amendable thereto. Had there been any such claim, that measure would never have been on the federal statutes. On the contrary, it was repeatedly proclaimed that such organizations were exempt. But the U. S. supreme court, self constituted umpire as to legislative intent, read onto that legislation intent that congress did not have, and, after about nine years of litigation, the Danbury hatters' union is soaked in the sum of $292,000. fine and costs.

Meanwhile, congress has enacted legislation specifically exempting labor unions, and there is now no question as to the intent or attitude of the country or congress in the matter. To collect this heavy penalty is, in effect, simply making the 200 workmen pay for the obtuseness or stupidity of a congress in not expressing an intent that the supreme court could see without years of shuttlecock play in the various courts, and naturally, there's argument in the claim that congress should pay for its own stupidity.

But let us leave these hundreds of workmen and their wives and children standing in the snow, homeless, penniless, paupers by judicial enactment, and consider some other Sherman law cases.

For years, regularly and habitually, the Standard Oil and tobacco trusts violated the Sheman law. There was no question as to their being trusts at which the law aimed. They violated in thousands of cases, not in one case, as did the Danbury hatters. They violated for millions of profit, not a principle's sake, as did that hatter's union. Their offense fell upon every home and firm in the land, not upon one firm of hat makers, as in the Danbury case. Convicted, they were able to pay the heaviest of fines without pauperism for anybody. What did the supreme court do? It told these trusts to dissolve and not be caught at it again, and the guilty parties so manipulated the dissolution—their punishment—that their conviction under the double faced, reinforced, farcial Sherman law became the most profitable thing that ever happened to them.

There's reason why congress should save the homes of those Connecticut workmen for them. It would be some evidence that justice is not always exclusively for those who have the pull or the price.

PARENTAL RESPONSIBILITIES

Being a parent nowadays is double the responsibility that it used to be, especially if you have daughters.

In the golden long ago, all a parent had to do for a daughter was to train her in the ways of the home and await the coming of the inevitable man.

No such sleighride now.

The daughter of today must be fitted for a career. Marriage? Possibly; even probably. But holy matrimony doesn't make it a cinch that she won't have to earn the keep of herself and her children with maybe that of hubby thrown in. So the question arises around every girl child—What career?

Teaching?

Its moral reward are great. To take the stream of young life at its most plastic period and enrich it with knowledge and with high ideals—yes, that's inspiring. But to do it well means costly preparation, scant pay and years of grind, grind, grind.

Nursing?

A merciful job, seemingly well recompensed, till you stop to think that its span is only 10 years. Then what comes of the broken down nurse?

Not much in it for the many at the bottom and really not a great deal of room at the top.

Stenography, office work?

Probably the field with the biggest posibilities, the largest money rewards for business women of genius. Still, don't overlook the exactions, the temptations. Nor the great number who never rise.

Art, music, the stage?

Fine for possessors of exceptional talent and character. Nothing to brag of for the average. And worse for the weak.

Thus you can box the compass of chances, finding at every point objections which make you ask if that's the field you wish to be beloved in.

It's not strange, therefore, that many a puzzled father or mother wonders if the new order of women in wage earning is all its cracked up to be.

Still, facts are facts. The world's headed that way and you can't stop it. Daughter needs an anchor to windward. And it's up to every pa and ma to help get it.

A man pops up in San Diego who was declared legally dead by the courts years ago, and whose wife has remarried and is living happily in Berkley with her new husband and family. The trouble with these Enoch Arden cases is that some innocent woman and more innocent children always shoulder the shame of the aftermath. Once declared dead, as a result of his own intentional act, a man ought to have the decency to stay dead.

BUMS WILL GET TO MAKE ROADS

After April 1st, "the stone pile" will be a permanent institution in our neighboring county of Fayette, and all vagrants or bums will be given work thereon in serving out their sentences. Thus instead of being a county expense, these characters will be turned into a help to the taxpayers, as they will do a great amount of the county road making in working out their sentences and paying their board instead of being paid regular days wages therefor as was not long since suggested by an auto association with headquarters not far from Monessen.

The commissioners of Fayette county decided on this course last Saturday and all plans for carrying out the system after April first are being worked out.

All vagrants sentenced to terms in the county jail by burgesses or mayors throughout the county, will be forced to serve out their time at work breaking stones and assisting at the quarry which is to be instituted at the county home farm or in breaking up stone and assisting in the repairs of various county roads.

Jail officials have been receiving from one to ten or more vagrants each day from various points in the county and it costs just thirty-two cents each to feed and keep these men who prefer jail to freedom and starvation. In the future the jail sentence will not be looked upon so favorably by men who refuse to even search for work and their sentences will be worked out at a great saving to the taxpayers of the county.

Last summer Fayette county built a lot of new road and contemplate doing the same this year. The construction of all roads after the stone gang is instituted will cost the county at least a third less than it has cost in the past. Should the number of vagrants be such as to warrant it, "barracks" will be constructed in various points throughout the country where the men will be detained over night after their day's work on the roads.

County Commisioner Nutt states that when the men are not at work on the county roads the stone in the large field on the eastern side of the New Salem road will be worked and quarried and hauled for use on the various roads All of this work will be done by prisoners who will be rated the same as trusties and given two days off their sentences for each day's work on the stone pile

The commissioners are at the present time preparing a petition which will be presented to the courts asking that those officials change as many of their workhouse sentences as possible to county sentences and thus save the county tax payers an additional sum. Many men are sent to the workhouse for minor offenses that could just as well be given sentences to work on our county stone pile.

All constables and county officials will be notified within a very short time to round up every vagrant found in the town or county and they will be forced to work out their time on the stone pile. Local constables are already preparing lists of names of men who they know will not search for work or endeavor to earn a living and beginning April 1st, all of these offenders will be arrested and placed to work for the county. The action of the commissioners is expected to meet with the hearty approval of every taxpayer.

SPARE GOVERNOR PRUNING TASK

Appropriation Committees Say They Will Be Careful

NOT TO OVERREACH MARK

Two Years Ago the Legislature Appropriated Many Millions More Than Were Available In the State Treasury—Fight to Repeal Full Crew Bill Grows In Intensity—Other Legislative News.

Harrisburg, March 2. — Governor Brumbaugh is determined that the appropriation committees of the senate and house will at this session perform their work with a view of giving to the state the benefit of their deliberations rather than to the individuals on the respective committees. In other words, the governor does not want the committees to recommend the full amounts asked for by institutions if they know that there is not sufficient funds in the state treasury to meet such appropriations. In case any attempt is made by the committees to make themselves "good fellows," and shift the work of cutting down the amounts to the governor, the latter will recall the legislature. He will not tolerate a repetition of the condition of two years ago.

SENATOR CLARENCE J. BUCKMAN
Chairman of Senate Appropriation Committee.

But it is not likely that there will be any clash between the governor and the committees on this score. Chairman Buckman, of the senate committee, and Chairman Woodward, of the house committee, both insist that when the appropriations leave their hands they will not be in excess of the amount the treasury will stand.

Square Deal For Governor.

"We are doing everything within our power to give the governor a square deal on this appropriation work," said Chairman Buckman recently. "I realize, and every member of the committee realizes, that an injustice was done Governor Tener in 1913. By reason of the fact that fifteen or sixteen million dollars in excess of the amount available was appropriated, he had to make a horizontal cut in the appropriation bills As a result all charities suffered regardless of the merits of their claims. To avoid this the committees will work night and day."

The men who make up the committees on appropriation are now going over the state visiting institutions seeking state aid Because of the probability of a short session numerous sub-divisions of the committees are being made and the present arrangement will make possible a call on every hospital and public home within the commonwealth.

Fight For Repealer.

The fight for the repeal of the full crew bill goes merrily on. Members of both branches are being flooded with literature on the subject, most of which comes from the side of the railroads. Display advertising, inserted by the companies, are appearing in newspapers throughout Pennsylvania and the people "at home" are being importuned to demand of their representative and senator that they cast their votes in favor of the 1911 law.

A favorite method of campaign is the sending of petitions to legislators. These petitions contain the names of employes who, it is set forth, want the act repealed. According to the railroad companies thousands of freight hands are finding that the full crew law is operating to their disadvantage, and they are therefore anxious to go back to the old system, when the companies hired as many men as they thought necessary to protect the public and their own rolling stock.

What Trainmen Say.

Naturally this activity on the part of the companies has stirred up the trainmen who favor the law, and lines of defense are being formed to resist the attempt to repeal. The Brotherhood members contend that the petitions mailed to the legislature are not bona fide, in that many of them contain the signatures of charwomen and others who are not affected by the law and who really are not in sympathy with the movement of their employers.

One of the arguments the trainmen will use in fighting the repealer will be that the railroads recently increased passenger fares to meet the alleged additional cost of extra men; that in their huge advertisements they lay much stress upon the improvements they would be willing to make in the event the law is repealed, but that they refrain from promising to restore the old fares. For this reason, say Brotherhood men, the public should not be interested in the contest, as it affects none but the company and the men.

Liquor Legislation Tabooed.

Not only will the local option bill fail of passage at this session, but every bill pertaining to liquor will be either kept in committee or defeated on a vote. This includes the various acts desired by the liquor interests and for which efforts have been made during the past two or three sessions of the legislature. In view of the big vote in the house against local option, the anti-optionists believe that the best plan is to remain quiet and do nothing to stir up further agitation by endeavoring to put through laws beneficial to the "wet" people.

"There is a decided sentiment among legislators for the bill to increase the efficiency of the state police by adding additional troops. An increase in the salary of the men is also contemplated. No longer is the state police of Pennsylvania an experiment. The work of Major Groome's men has proven such a success that other states have commissions appointed to look into the system, with a view of putting through bills for state police on the lines of the Pennsylvania force.

Will Attract Better Men.

It is thought that if the pay of the state police is increased a better class of men will enlist. At present the force contains some excellent timber, but generally speaking, in point of caliber, it is not comparable with the men who first joined the organization. Persons who reside in the neighborhood of some of the barracks constantly complain of the boisterous conduct of state policemen. In addition to this charge, local police authorities claim that members of the constabulary are in the habit of using third degree methods that are under the ban in the large cities of the country. Those back of the present bill believe that if it is enacted there will be a big improvement in the personnel of the force and that Major Groome will be able to fully restore the confidence that nearly all the people of Pennsylvania one time had in it.

Before the supreme court last week the appeal of Auditor General Powell and State Treasurer Young from the decision of the Dauphin county court in the matter of the auto license funds was heard. This involves more than $1,000,000 derived from automobile registration and license fees. The act of 1913 gives the highway commissioner unrestricted control of the fund, and it is the contention of Messrs. Powell and Young that the act is clearly unconstitutional.

For Road Purposes.

This money is to be used for the upkeep of the roads, and the work of the highway department has been greatly hindered in the past year by reason of the funds being withheld Former Attorney General Bell appeared for Highway Commissioner Bigelow, and the auditor general and state treasurer were represented by J Hampton Todd.

There will be no radical alteration by the legislature in the system of road improvements. The governor in his message advocated a new beginning unless the present plan is carried out more logically, with adequate provision for maintenance and rerouting. The legislature will try to perfect the existing act so as to make its provisions conform with the wishes of Governor Brumbaugh, Senator Sproul and others interested in good roads.

The movement to carve a new county out of lower Luzerne and upper Schuylkill and call it Penrose county, received a death blow when the house committee on new counties and townships decided to negative the bill. This agitation has been going on for over twenty-five years.

Before leaving for Florida last week State Senator McNichol, of Philadelphia, stated that the leaders of both the senate and house want to cooperate with Governor Brumbaugh in passing a just workmen's compensation act, and also in putting on the statute books satisfactory child labor laws. He predicted that an agreement will be reached on these subjects.

A bill is in the legislature to reduce the price of a license to sell oleomargarine from $100 to $10. Oleo dealers claim the present high license works a hardship upon their business.

Passage of a resolution by the legislature placing the blame for the present industrial depression on the Democratic tariff policy has attracted attention throughout the country. Other states are now taking similar action.

There is a strong sentiment for one tax office in boroughs and cities of the state. A bill to place the collection of all taxes in a single collector in third class cities has been presented.

Taxpayers are put to great inconvenience in tramping from one office to another, and the poorer class, those who cannot pay their obligations in the specified time, are confronted with double costs. All the inconvenience and the double penalty could be avoided if one collector were named for all of the taxes. It should also be possible to make such changes that the duplicates for the collection of all of the taxes will be in the hands of the collector at the same time.

This reform can be enacted without taking in the other questions and it can be opposed only by men who make use of extra offices merely to reward political hangers-on.

EXCESS CREWS IN DISFAVOR

Various Attempts to Enact New State Laws Have Been Unsuccessful.

Philadelphia, Feb. 27.

Efforts of the trainmen's organization to force Full Crew Laws—really "excess" crew laws—upon various states are meeting with strong public opposition. Farmers and business men of Kansas made such sharp protest that the bill before the legislature of that state was killed February 13 in the senate committee.

An effort to enact an "excess" crew law in West Virginia met with general opposition, and the bill was reported adversely by the legislative committee to which it was referred. Down in Alabama a legislative committee, after public hearings upon a Full Crew bill, concluded that the contentions of the trainmen's union were not well founded and that the measure would only compel employment of extra men not needed on the trains. The bill was consequently adversely reported.

In Texas a new effort to get an "excess" crew bill passed has encountered vehement opposition from the farmers, who defeated a previous effort. Out in Washington a bill has been agreed upon by committees of both the senate and the house, which in effect will repeal the Full Crew Law of that state and leave it to the Public Service Commission to say how trains shall be manned

The bill before the New York legislature for repeal of the Full Crew Law of that state is being earnestly supported by newspapers all over the state, by grange and business organizations, such as the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, and by influential men of affairs

The State Board of Agriculture and the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce stand strongly for repeal of the Full Crew Law of New Jersey, with power to the Public Utilities Commission to determine how trains should be manned.

OBJECT TO NEW POSTMASTER

A protest against the confirmation of the appointment of Andrew J. Palm for the postmastership of Meadville, Pa., was filed through Senator Boies Penrose by P. J. McFarland in Washington, Saturday. Mr McFarland states that Mr. Palm has misused funds of a company in which he was interested and was indicted by a grand jury of Mercer county, but that the charge was afterward withdrawn on a settlement by Palm's friends. On these grounds, Mr. McFarland holds that Palm is not fit for a position of trust

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Newspapers Voice Public Demand for Repeal of Full Crew Laws

Public sentiment, as expressed by the newspapers, overwhelmingly favors the repeal of the Full Crew—"excess man crew"—Laws.

On February 14th, the railroads of Pennsylvania and New Jersey frankly and fearlessly submitted to the Court of Public Opinion the reasons why these laws, which unnecessarily burden the people, should be repealed.

On this presentation of facts newspapers have taken position. Editorials to the number of 199 have so far come to the attention of the Railroads' Executive Committee. These group the newspapers on the proposition as follows:

For Repeal	162
Against Repeal . . .	10
Neutral	27

Following are excerpts from various newspapers:

Honest Proposition

Here is a perfectly fair and honest proposition that ought to receive the attention of the Legislature, and no doubt the great majority of the legislators are perfectly willing to consider it—Evening Times, Trenton.

Full Crew Law Useless

It compels the railroads to pay men whom they do not need, men who are worse than useless because their idleness is demoralizing to the whole working force—National Stockman and Farmer, Pittsburgh.

Unnecessary Men

From no source does it seem to be successfully maintained that all of the men now employed on trains are necessary to safety in operation.—Leader, Johnstown.

People Favor Repeal

The railroads—not always right—are absolutely right in asking for the repeal of the Full Crew Law, and we believe the people of the State will favor the action taken by the railroads.—Independent, Collegeville, Pa.

Fifth Wheel Men

These men are of no more use than a fifth wheel to a coach Their presence on the trains is in no way helpful. It is rather detrimental than otherwise to the efficiency of the service—Sunday Dispatch, Philadelphia

Economically Unsound

The Full Crew Law is economically unsound. It provides for employment and payment of men who perform no useful function —Tribune, New York

Sop to Labor Vote

The law was simply a sop to the labor vote. Common justice demands the repeal of the "Full Crew" Law of New Jersey.—Gazette, Spring Lake, N. J.

Justice in Repeal

When all sides shall have been heard, it is not too hazardous to predict that the Legislatures of both States will recognize the justice of the appeal and retrace a step which was taken improvidently and without full knowledge of the facts.—Public Ledger, Philadelphia.

Most Impressive

As for the appeal of the railroads against the extra or Full Crew Law, it must be said that it is presented with a force of facts and figures and a directness of reasoning that is most impressive.—Intelligencer, Lancaster, Pa.

Common Sense Action

Repeal the Full Crew Law in the name of common sense.—Plain Dealer, Philadelphia.

Turn On the Light

The fact that the opponents of the repeal of the Full Crew Laws object to the light, that they do not want popular discussion, is very strong evidence in itself that they have a case that will not stand the light—Morning Sun, Baltimore

Objectionable Legislation

It follows that the Full Crew Laws are class legislation of a particularly objectionable kind. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

Evidence to Public

The public is ready to hear the evidence and it is up to the parties concerned, the railroads and the trainmen, to submit their briefs This the railroads are doing and to their credit, be it said, in an open and aboveboard manner.—Daily Republican, Millville, N. J.

Get Laws Repealed

There should be comparatively little difficulty in getting the Full Crew Laws of this and neighboring States repealed by an appeal to public opinion.—Record, Philadelphia.

By repeal of the Full Crew Laws there is no purpose to lay off men whose services are necessary to adequately man trains. Let that be understood. The object is merely to eliminate men for whom there is no real work and for whom jobs exist only by edict of law.

The railroads believe that the people will join in the fight for repeal of laws which put unnecessary burdens upon the public. They ask all citizens to help by communicating in person, by letter or otherwise with their elected representatives at Harrisburg and Trenton. This should be done now.

POOL TOURNAMENT NEAR END

Last night at the Olympic pool parlor, the largest crowd gathered to witnes the pocket pool game that has been in the place since its opening. Harry Lebowitz played Slim Gleason the score being:

Lebowitz	100
Frank Bush	73
Gleason	89

In the pocket pool tournament which will end next Monday night, the standing is as follows:

Clint Manown	87
Wm. Greaser	82
Wm. Eller	69
Slim Gleason	89

So far Gleason and Manown are now high score men and the result of the next three games will be watched with unusual interest as the two high men at the close of Monday's night's play will play off "the rub" for the trophy.

In the windup of this series of games, Lebewitz will play Joe O'Toole Wednesday evening, Friday evening, Pete Giporella and Monday, H. E. Stewart.

This evening the big Olympic bowling team will go to McKeesport on the 6 o'clock train to play the strong Tube City team and a good crowd of rooters is expected to go along. All the boys are expected to leave here on the 5:25 train this evening.

Tonight on the Olympic alleys, the Cubs and Giants will meet in the regular duck pin tournament and an exceptionally interesting game is being looked for.

SALVATION ARMY GROWS

Last night, Capt. Ives of the local Salvation army had with him in the meeting, Brigadier Hunter of Pittsburgh, who delivered a most forceful talk to the large congregation present in the hall in the Schone building, corner Schoonmaker avenue and Seventh street.

The crowd last night was the largest since the Army has been located in Monessen and six new members were taken in, bringing the total number up to 39. There were also four conversions last night.

Brig. Hunter visited the Monessen Army about three months ago and during his present visit he stated that the record made in Monessen under Capt. and Mrs. Ives during the six months they have been here, is the best of any town in this locality.

Capt. Ives in command of the Army in Monessen has procured a year's lease on the entire Schone building, which will be devoted to Army work. Capt. and Mrs. Ives have moved into the second story and the partition having been removed on the lower floor makes a hall now large enough to seat at least 200 people.

The hall has been newly papered and other improvements made which adds much to convenience, comfort and general appearance.

This property was recently sold by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Schone to St. Leonard's Catholic church and the Salvation Army will likely use it until it is needed by St. Leonards people for other use.

Wm. Grant of Charleroi, is a patient in the Monessen-Charleroi hospital, as a result of having been struck over the head Saturday night, with a piece of plank, supposedly in the hands of John Vegso, who is said to have disappeared. Grant was unconscious, but now, it is thought, he will recover. Grant is a miner and Vegso a glass worker

Seek New Trial

Philip Ginsberg of Monongahela, a brother of I. Ginsberg, the second hand furniture man of Monessen, with store on Schoonmaker avenue, convicted in federal court at Washington of larceny by bailee, has applied for a new trial through his attorney.

The evidence at the first trial went to show that Wm. Engler, the prosecutor, kept a truck in Ginsberg's garage. Engler, it appeared, had borrowed from Ginsberg, a wheel puller which he broke but paid for, Ginsberg buying a new puller.

Later Engler moved his truck to another garage and when he asked to borrow the wheel puller again, Ginsberg refused to loan it. He then had Ginsberg arrested for larceny by bailee.

The grounds upon which a new trial is asked are that the verdict is not supported by or justified by the evidence, and that the verdict is against the evidence.

GREAT CROWDS PACK OLYMPIC LAST EVENING

The Olympic theatre was packed as usual last night, interest being maintained by two reels, 12th episode of "The Master Key" and the opening of the new feature "The Exploits of Elaine." The latter promises to be a strong picture, judging from the opening instalment, which takes the form of a mysterious detective story, full of thrills and excitement.

The many Monessen friends of Bob Leonard and Ella [illegible] were delighted with last night's reels, which were about the most intensely exciting of any yet shown. The audience was taken at a lively clip to India where some real, hair raising incidents took place.

The Olympic was so crowded last night that it was almost impossible to get out, after one once got a seat.
